

Collagen is one of our most vital structural bodily proteins. Found in our connective tissues, it is composed of specific amino acid chains, or peptides, responsible for the strength, elasticity, and durability of our skin, hair, nails, joints, bones, ligaments, muscles, tendons, blood vessels, and even gut. But by the time we reach our mid-twenties, our collagen production begins to decline considerably, and in order to sustain our supply, it must be supplemented by our diet.*

Marine Collagen is composed of type I collagen, the most abundant and bioavailable type of collagen in the body, accounting for over 90% of our body's entire collagen composition, and over 70% of our skin, hair, nail, and teeth collagen composition.*

Our high quality, hydrolyzed marine collagen is derived from wild, deep-sea cod, carefully broken down into microparticles to allow for quick and easy digestion. For maximal effect, our collagen is paired with organic vitamin C, a crucial component to collagen production, plus a hint of organic vanilla for flavor neutralization. Our vitamin C is derived from organic Peruvian camu camu, one of the world's naturally richest transforms of vitamin C, plentiful in health benefits and antioxidants associated with anti-aging.*
